SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

A Resume of Events in the Sporting Arena.

Winnipeg Free Press.—The following definition of an amateur athlete was recently adopted by the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association: "An amateur athlete is one who has never competed in an open competition, nor for either a stake, gate money or entrance fee, one who has never instructed, pursued or assisted in the pursuit of athletic exercises as a means of livelihood, nor for gain nor any emolument; one whose membership of any athletic organization was not brought about nor does not continue because of the waiving of the initiation fees or dues, nor because of any understanding, expressed or implied, whereby his becoming or continuing to be a member of such organization will be, or is, of any pecuniary benefit to him whatever, either directly or indirectly, and who shall in all respects conform to the by-laws and rules of this association.

MATCH GAME.

A match game was played to-day at Beacon Hill between Corrig school and Islanders (Association) Club. The following played for Corrig school: Goal—R. R. Freeman; backs—J. S. Floyd, T. McNeeley; half-backs—C. H. Burnett, D. Macdonald, W. R. Wilson; forwards—J. D. Pemberton, J. W. Spring, W. F. Palmer, J. B. Wright and T. H. Baxter.

DOG DISTEMPER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR.—Subscriber may find some benefit from the following course of treatment: Keep dogs dry and in a moderately warm house, well ventilated and clean. Feed on beef tea, milk or mutton broth. If the animal refuses to eat, administer beef nearly raw, chopped fine and made into a ball. Give twice a day cod liver oil, one teaspoonful; tincture of iron, 5 drops. Give double the above dose of iron if the dog is a large one. Or give port wine, one teaspoonful; quinine sulph., one grain; twice a day in linseed tea. Double the dose for a large dog. If the dog is very weak give brandy and water of each one teaspoonful every two hours. If constipated, relieve with enemas. The dog that has had fits had better have a seton inserted in the back of his head and action quickly excited. Shift the seton twice a day. An eruption on the pup need not alarm subscriber." As health returns this will come all right. READER.

HO, JOHN ROBSON EATS HUMBLE PIE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—An illegal attempt was made to close the school on the 6th inst. The head of the department no doubt presuming that the trustees were supporters of his government, thought all would be well; but alas! alas! he knows now that they are men, and won't do his bidding. He therefore attempts to clear his hands from the dirty mess by giving permission (as I am informed yesterday) to them to reopen on the 25th. I presume they will inform him that as he closed it, he had better be up and reopen it himself. I would advise him first to send a carpenter and hang the doors properly, for fear that he may be arrested for owning (as head of the government) a public building with its doors opening inwards, contrary to statute. A pretty man to close a school for a non-observance of rules!!

DOM PEDRO ARRIVES.

The Deposed Emperor of Brazil and Wife Reach St. Vincent in Safety.

The New Flag of the United States of Brazil Ordered Down by a Consul.

Lisbon, Nov. 30.—A dispatch from St. Vincent announces the arrival there of the steamer Alagoas with the Emperor and Empress of Brazil on board. The steamer will proceed to the Tagus and there their majesties will disembark at this city, where a palace has been prepared for them.

Upon arrival of the Alagoas at the Island of St. Vincent, an attempt was made to interview Dom Pedro concerning events that led to his deposition and exile. He declined, however, to enter into any discussion of the revolution, but stated he had been treated with the utmost kindness throughout. The Alagoas will proceed for Lisbon to-morrow.

When she arrived at St. Vincent she was flying the new flag of the United States of Brazil. The flag remained flying until the Brazilian state consul boarded her and informed the captain that the provisional government had given instructions that the old flag was to be hoisted at St. Vincent and Lisbon. The officers of the steamer not having direct orders from Rio Janeiro, declined to make the change. They, however, sent a cable despatch to Rio Janeiro asking orders relative to the flag, pending the arrival of which the Alagoas flies no flag at all.

The Alagoas was conveyed for four and a half days from Rio Janeiro by the Brazilian man-of-war. The latter was much slower than the Alagoas and the latter's passage was consequently much longer than would otherwise have been.

MATCH OFF—PLUCKY FIREMEN.

London, Nov. 30.—The match between Fallon and Wannop is off. Fallon would not agree to the arrangements and has started for Ireland to visit some friends. He will leave for America next week.

The fever hospital at Rochester was burned to day. Fifteen patients in the institution were rescued by firemen with much difficulty, and great danger to themselves.

"SMOKERS."

London, Nov. 29.—Advices from Austria say that the "Smokers' strike," which was inaugurated in the early part of the year, has seriously depleted the national exchequer. The sale of tobacco and cigars is in Austria, as well as in Hungary, a state monopoly, and the cigars, which are made in a number of state factories, are sold at fixed prices, like stamps in other countries. The "strike" was brought about by an increase of these prices, and the smokers have taken to pipes and cigarettes, leaving the cigars to the exchequer.

VILLAGERS SHELLED AND DESTROYED.

London, Nov. 29.—Government advices from Melbourne say that the English cruiser Royalist has shelled and destroyed several villages on the Solomon Islands, upwards of fifty natives being killed. The attack was due to the fact that some of the natives were charged with having decoyed and murdered an Englishman named Nelson and three boys from a ship that had touched at the islands, and afterwards roasted and devoured the bodies.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Uncle Sam Loses a Million a Year on Smuggled Opium.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—An officer of the Canadian customs who has returned from the Pacific coast, stated that it is estimated the United States is losing at the rate of nearly onemillion dollars yearly revenue which should be collected from prepared opium manufactured in British Columbia and smuggled into the United States.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—The British Columbia delegates, who have been entertained by some of the cabinet ministers, tonight returned the hospitality by entertaining Hon. Mr. Tupper and Hon. Mr. Dewdney to dinner. The delegates spent the forenoon at the Experimental Farm.

CHINESE RESTRICTION ACT.

The Dominion Minister of Customs states it is not the intention of the government to modify the act restricting the Chinese immigration at this session of parliament unless the people of British Columbia demand it. He holds to the opinion that for a long time to come the province will be largely dependent upon Chinese labor for the development of its resources. At present, he says, British Columbia is losing a large proportion of her Chinese population who are pouring into the United States through the State of Washington.

FEARFUL DISTRESS.

The heartrending tales of destitution and suffering among fishermen in Labrador are pouring in. Near Point Esquimaux entire families are on the verge of starvation and are subsisting on the flesh of dogs. At a number of fishing stations, reporting a scarcity of food, the fishermen saved refuse from the fish which they cleaned and which will have to be boiled to keep them alive. The fishermen keep left without means to buy food.

Special to THE TIMES.]

New Westminster, Nov. 30.—The Caledonian and St. Andrew's society celebrated the festival of Scotland's patron saint by a banquet at Queen's hotel last night. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion, beneath a blaze of light stood two pipers, skirling, grooming heroic occasion. The good thing for the Mackintosh occupied being absent, T. right were seated the chair. On his Thos. Cunningham, Mr. McInnes and left, Mayor Townsend, P. P.; on his The vice-chairs were filled by I. B. Fisher. Punch and John Bull, James and songs were freely cheers, toasts a most enjoyable time followed in and dispersed shortly after The party o'clock.

THE COUNT WAS A WOMAN.

An Extraordinary Complication by Which a Woman Weds Her Own Wife.

Paris, Nov. 29.—An extraordinary story comes from Klagenfurt, in Austria. About a year ago a young man, calling himself the Count Sixandor, arrived, claiming to be a member of a noble Hungarian family, took up his residence in the place and proceeded to live in a style of considerable luxury. He ran into numerous heavy debts, but gained the entire confidence of a wealthy family owning a villa situated on the lake, and finally succeeded in winning the daughter of the house. The wedding was solemnized with considerable ceremony, but shortly after the honeymoon the count's embarrassments became so great that his creditors accused him of swindling and caused his arrest. The extraordinary fact then came to light that the so-called count was a woman.

REPUBLICAN SENTIMENT IN CANADA.

An American Newspaper Discusses Things in This Country.

[Topical Talk in St. Paul Globe.]

The fall of the Brazilian empire has started the Dominion newspapers to talking about a republic for Canada. It is pretty well understood on this side of the line that the republican sentiment is a good deal stronger in Canada than the authorities are willing to admit. It is particularly strong in the opposition party, and not a few of the government officials are infected with it. During the first ice carnival in this city I had a long talk one evening with the late John Norquay, who was at the time Prime Minister of the Manitoban government, in which we discussed Canadian politics with reference to the future possibility of doing away with the shadow of monarchy now existing upon the Dominion, and in such an event the probability of Canada being annexed to the United States. Mr. Norquay said nothing that would indicate his disloyalty to the throne, nor did he intimate that he would ever favor a revolution. Still, he frankly admitted that the spirit of American liberty was abroad in Canada, and that, under any active leadership, it could be speedily crystalized into determined opposition to British domination. "The Republicans are in the minority as yet," said Mr. Norquay, "but they are very restive under British rule, and they are composed of elements who would be formidable in case of an uprising. Still, in my opinion, there would have to be a considerable growth in republican sentiment before there is any danger of a revolution in Canada. It is certain that so long as imperial government remains in the southern end of this hemisphere Canada can be relied upon to hold this end up." "Suppose, by chance, Brazil should be converted into a republic, what then?" I asked. "That would change matters," replied Mr. Norquay, with some hesitation and with a look of anxious concern on his face, "in that event the equilibrium would be destroyed, and there is no telling what sort of a leap into the air Canada might take. These popular revolutions are infectious. France is a republic now, and there are a great many people of French descent living in Canada who are infected with the spirit of their mother country. I admit that the tendency of the age is toward popular government, even in Europe, and it is but natural that the republican idea should grow faster here than there. Still, I do not think that you or I will live long enough to see Canada pass out from under British rule. In any event, Canada will preserve its autonomy and will never be annexed to the United States." This conversation has been recalled by recent events, and I have given the substance of it, believing it to be pertinent to the discussion now going on in the Canadian press.

POTTERY WORKS ASSURED.

The Discovery of a Clay Which Makes the Best Glazed Goods.

A reporter was informed to-day by a gentleman interested, of a discovery of great importance to the province.

He says it has been discovered beyond any possibility of a doubt that stoneware sewer pipes can be made in Victoria, also stoneware and enamelled, bricks with three separate colors. The glaze of the sample shown to the reporter is very fine and said to be equal to any enamel brick made in England.

The property on which the clay has been found is owned by a well known citizen of Victoria. It is proposed by him to erect one of the largest circular, self consuming smoke kilns in Canada, at a convenient shipping point not a hundred miles from the centre of the city.

The discovery is the more important because it has been proved by the experimenter, before witnesses, that it is utterly impossible for any clay found on Vancouver Island, within fifty feet of the surface to produce the same class of goods.

The use of the new glazed brick will do away with a large amount of painting and will make buildings of a more durable character.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Hon. A. N. Richards, Q. C.)

William Meyers, a strong and healthy looking sample of a Seattle beat, was charged with being a vagrant, and incommoding people on the streets by offering saide jewellery for sale.

A fine of $5 was imposed, in default of which a month's imprisonment was ordered.

The case of Jas. Seeley was next called. Mr. Helmcken, on behalf of the complainant, asked that the case be allowed to be withdrawn.

Mr. Seeley on his own be half, said that he had agreed to the withdrawal providing the charge of assault against him would be denied. He felt, in justice to himself, that the explanation was necessary, as he had been publicly accused of an offence he had not committed.

His Honor then allowed the withdrawal.

FROM ALASKA.

The City of Topeka Arrives From the North.

The Alaskan steamer City of Topeka arrived at Port Townsend at three o'clock this morning from the north, with few passengers and a full freight, of which 1500 barrels was salmon. Mr. R. Sylvester, of Wrangle, came down and came over from Port Townsend on the Queen of the Pacific.

Just before reaching port an Indian woman died of heart disease.

Mining was almost suspended in the north with the exception of the Treadwell mine, which sent down $50,000 in bullion on the steamer.

The U. S. steamer Thetis had left for the south and was at Nanaimo.

A FATAL SUBSTITUTE.

A Dime Museum Performer Fatally Shot by Mistake.

Lynn, Mass, Nov. 30.—Wm. F. Partelle, of Worcester, a performer in a dime museum here, was shot dead last night. He was performing with a rifle which he apparently loaded with leaden bullets, and then requested some one to shoot at him, appearing to catch the bullets in his mouth. This time he failed to substitute a pasteboard bullet, and Wm. Flanagan, who fired, shot Partelle dead.

LOCAL NOTES.

Local speculators say an attempt to "bear" Port Angeles property is being made.

The month of November has been unprecedented in local fire circles. Not a fire has occurred.

Helen Blythe, a brilliant actress with an accomplished company and a beautiful play, "A Mother's Love," will be here shortly.

R. B. McMicking has received the contract from Mr. Stover to place the Gamewell fire alarm system in practical working order, and will commence work on Monday.

A Happy Colony.

Mr. Wakefield, in his new book, gives a very attractive picture of life in New Zealand, which has not yet produced any Croesuses. "The very wealthy class are exceedingly limited. There is probably not a single New Zealand colonist with a clear income of $250,000 a year, not more than half a dozen with $100,000 a year, and not fifty with $50,000." But, on the other hand, there is in New Zealand "none of the extreme poverty which jars upon the visitor by juxtaposition with wealth and extravagance in the great Australian cities, and very little of the hardship and privation of the contented penury of the poorer class of Australian country settlers." In short, New Zealand is a fine, fertile country, where land is cheap and the system of transfer simple, where the climate is equable, living cheap, and the form of government very near to a democracy.

THE PRESTON TRUCK.

How Flames Can be Fought Away Above the Telegraph Wires.

An exhibition that proved of the utmost interest to the fire departments of cities was given yesterday afternoon in the presence of over two thousand persons at the new Bank of Commerce building, King and Jordan streets, Toronto, says the Toronto World of the 21st instant. The enterprising city of Victoria, B. C., has just purchased a "Preston Aerial Turntable Truck," and 2,000 feet of Eureka fire hose from the Toronto Rubber Company (T. McIlroy, jr., & Co.), and it was for the purpose of showing the many merits of this wonderful truck that the exhibition was given. The ladders on this truck are seventy feet long when extended, being in three sections, strongly trussed and capable of sustaining almost an unlimited amount of leverage. Foreman Frank Smith of the Central Fire Hall superintended the operations of the elevating cranks, which were otherwise operated by "green hands" and not by trained firemen. The triple ladders were extended in just 58 seconds, and there is no doubt members of the fire brigade who could reduce this by several seconds. Mr. C. S. Hicks of Chicago, scaled the ladder in an incredible short space of time, and when the top was reached he was tilted over against the windows of the upper stories of the building, far above the telegraph and telephone wires. In case the smoke or heat becomes too great for the firemen when these elevated positions have been reached outside high buildings, it is quite easy to take the men upon the ladder again and swing them, by means of the turntable, on which the base of the superstructure of the ladders rests, clean around to the other side of the street, where descent may be made or where streams can be played upon the burning building.

When the ladder is down and disjointed on its truck it presents a very compact appearance. The truck itself from tip to tip measures about 38 feet and can be turned around within its own length, the front wheels revolving beneath the body of the forward part. The truck itself and the triple ladders are constructed with a view to great strength, durability and expeditious action, all of which features have been admirably accomplished by the builders.

The unanimous opinion of those who witnessed the exhibition was that the Preston Truck, with its 70 feet of triple ladders and various other equipments, was about as unique a piece of mechanism for coping with fires at high buildings as has ever been seen in these parts. The truck and the 2000 feet of Eureka hose was dispatched to this city on the 21st instant.

MISDIRECTED SYMPATHY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

DEAR SIR:—The newspapers of the ancient capital have been working up an amazing amount of misdirected sympathy for a certain woman who was recently sent to their city under authority of section II of chap. 61, cons. stats. B. C. Is it conceivable (as the paragraphs you have copied from these papers imply) that two justices of the peace (one of them sheriff of the district) and a physician should enter into a conspiracy to shut up in an asylum a woman who has never annoyed or molested either of them? Assuredly not. It might have been wise then for the soft-hearted reporters before publishing so much nonsense to have enquired into the other side of the story. Briefly it is this: The woman had no quarrel with any other woman here; but she paraded up and down the street shouting at the top of her voice the most foul and abusive language regarding a respectable married lady in the hearing of children and others; and the chief constable very properly, when his attention was called to her conduct, arrested her. The statute gives one J. P. the power to order the removal of an insane person to the precincts of an asylum; but in this case the order to the constable was signed by two J.P.'s, and though the facts upon which they acted were within their own personal cognizance they preferred to strengthen their position by a certificate from me—which certificate, notwithstanding, the wisdom of my professional brethren at the ancient capital, is absolutely and in every respect true and correct. Did the examining physicians down there hear of cases where an insane person had lucid intervals—was cunning enough to deceive the cutest examiner examining openly—or whose insanity was manifested only in certain localities or aroused by the presence of certain persons? If they have not they had better re-read their allen'ore, for I rather think that time will prove the J. P.'s here and myself correct. The woman in question has never practiced as a mid-wife in Cariboo since my residence here, now over seven years. Let me just add in conclusion that the political animus of the paragraph you have copied from Truth is so obvious that it needs no refutation. Contemptuous silence best answers that sort of stuff.

Yours truly, HUGH WATT, M.D.

HONEST JOHN'S OPTIMISM VS. DOMINION DILATORINESS.

The sanguine tone of the Premier's speech at Kamloops, and especially with regard to minerals in the railway belt, affords an amazing contrast to the dilatory methods of the Dominion government, which, according to "our own correspondent," (the Colonist's) has not yet acted upon the proposal of the British Columbia government relative to the adjustment of the vexed question. The Premier tells the delighted Kamloopians, "that he is in a position to state that the Federal government has approached the matter in a 'conciliatory and liberal spirit,' and that final settlement is an affair of the immediate future." Doubtless "Honest John" was honest in what he said, but considering the simplicity of the matter with which he has had to deal, and the chestnutty character of the subject in general, we recommend that the per diem expenses for this especial missionary trip be disallowed by the auditor. We doubt whether the country has derived a benefit commensurate with the expenses of the journey to Kamloops, and we suggest that a bill pass the next House as a sort of a companion to the re-districting of the province which shall necessitate politicians paying the expenses of their electioneering trips out of their own pockets. Considering the brilliant galaxy of political lights which now haunt the chambers of James Bay, why would it not be a good idea for them to travel in a bunch—on these electioneering pilgrimages. The public would then have an opportunity to size them up. Perhaps they understand too well the enchanting effect of distance on the view, to expose themselves to close contact. But be that as it may, unless the Colonist's "our own correspondent" is the veritable "Ottawa liar" which it sometimes prates about it will be found, we imagine, that "Honest John's" optimism is altogether unwarranted. We are of the opinion that confusion will continue to prevail as between the province and the Dominion for some time to come. Should these squabbles be settled public attention would be directed to matters which the Premier would have to touch gingerly, as in the case of re-districting, and then the people might say: "Behold, let us have a change." We may be at fault, but there is no likelihood that the present questions on which so much stress is being laid, will be settled as expeditiously as the Premier intimates. He prefers that they should be the focal points of public attention; they relieve him from incurring any serious responsibilities. "Honest John" in fact prefers a negative to a positive administration.

THE WEEK AND SIR RICHARD'S CHARGES.

Notwithstanding the pooh-poohing of the Empire and several other journals of like political ilk, it is evident that the charges of corruption made by Sir RICHARD CARTWRIGHT in his recent speech are making themselves felt. The Week, which probably supplies the true mean between Sir JOHN on the one hand and Sir RICHARD on the other, is of the opinion that "when a public man of the ability and standing of Sir RICHARD CARTWRIGHT comes before his constituents as one of the recognized leaders of a political party, and devotes a large part of a lengthy speech to formulating charges of the kind indicated; when he makes such charges openly, boldly and specifically, the case is altered. The country should demand an answer if none is voluntarily put forward. The three cases mentioned by Sir RICHARD CARTWRIGHT in his Ingersoll speech are seemingly definite enough to give opportunity for proof or disproof. To say nothing of the disgrace attached to the making of such charges, if unsubstantiated, or to bearing them if substantiated, at home, their publication in the leading political journals cannot fail to injure the reputation of the country abroad. Either Sir CHARLES TUPPER did, or he did not, by misrepresentations, made in his capacity as a Minister of the Crown, divert a million and a half of the public money of the Dominion into an improper channel. Either the Dominion government did, or it did not, cause a large sum of public money to be grossly misappropriated for the personal benefit of a member of parliament, in connection with a New Brunswick bridge. Either that same government did, or it did not, sell a large and valuable tract of Indian land to certain personal friends, at less than two-thirds of a cent per acre, such lands being shortly after re-sold for about a dollar an acre, to the great pecuniary gain of the persons concerned in the transaction and to the loss of the public." It may be that the government can afford to maintain a "dignified silence" with regard to these charges, but if they are honest they will demand an investigation

CANADIAN NATIONALITY.

"Anglo American," in wanting to know what reasonable grounds there are for thinking that independence of England means Canadian nationality, curiously underrates the quality of the Canadian character, and forgets, besides, that we are now living in the last quarter of the 19th century, which, on this continent, expresses a civilization further advanced over the 18th in point of ethical considerations than the 18th over the dark period of the middle ages. If the moral conditions of the 18th century prevailed on this continent, or if this continent was cursed with kings, it is pretty safe to say that by virtue of the heaviest battalions Canada would become a part of the American union. But the moral conditions of the 18th century do not prevail. The alleged divine right of kings has been supplanted by a diviner right, that of democracy. Governments are no longer conducted in the interests of the titled few; the people have undertaken to govern themselves, and so it comes about that war on this continent, at least, will not transpire until it becomes necessary to vindicate some vital principle. If Canada should elect to be governed by principles inimical to republican ideas, the United States would justly have grounds for war; a vital principle would be at stake. But Canada, virtually a republic, is no menace to democracy; no occasion for American aggression exists in consequence, nor would any occasion arise if Canada was an independent state. Canada independent, the interests of each country within its own domain are identical, and a common regard for material prosperity forbids the destructiveness of warfare. But among Canadians who can think without prejudice, the impression prevails that laying alongside so immense a neighbor as the United States must necessarily lead to absorption. It might be urged with as much reason that France should absorb all Europe east of the Rhine, and Russia what remains to the west of it; that the United States should absorb Mexico; that the large merchant should absorb the lesser. All this is a question of individuality. In the proportion that this is contained in individuals, so does it crop out in nations, and it will be noted that conquered nations are the most persistent in retaining their national characteristics. Witness Poland and Ireland. Canada has an individuality of her own, and left undisturbed it must eventuate in a distinct nationality. If, however, Canadians cultivate the American idea and neglect to nourish those innate qualities which find expression in love of country, they virtually become Americans, and annexation is only a matter of time. Herein lies the great impediment to Canadian nationalization. Canadians readily absorb the genius of the United States, and this tendency is hastened, not because Canada is not as free as the United States, but because in spite of all, the glamor of monarchy and of paternalism and the family prestige still remains. In the States the influence of the masses is positive, it comprehends the entire polity of the nation. In Canada the influence of the masses is relative; that is to say, while ostensibly as great as in the States, it is lost in the tremendous appointive power vested in the government, and in the fact that so many places of public trust are practically life tenures, and family monopolies. Whatever may be said in favor of the Canadian system of civil service, it lacks popularity with the masses. It is doubtful if civil service reform will ever be effective in the States. The life tenure minimizes the chances of office, and the appointive system reduces the people to a nominal say in the matter. Is it at all strange that civil service reform progesses so slowly? and is it so strange that Canadians should become de-Canadianized after a brief residence in the States? As to that bugbear that some well meaning Canadians raise concerning the helplessness of Canada should she cut loose from England, and the probability of the United States jumping on her as a turkey on a June bug, this idea is a survival of barbaric days. We have already pointed out why the United States and Canada should live amicably, but we will now carry the idea a little further by saying that strong as national vanity is, the tendency it has to acquire power by conquest, there is among English speaking people a moral force which counterbalances it. Since ten years past a great change has come over the minds of men relative to the justification of war. War, now, must now have justification. The cause must be palpable and overpowering. The exertion of moral force has prevented the conquest of Mexico. Canada, independent, would be protected by this same force. Those who talk about the conquest of Canada by the States in the event of her independence are simply dealing with an 18th century idea. The danger to Canada lies not in the probability of conquest at the point of the bayonet, but in a conquest more effective, the popularity of American institutions.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

At the Mormon enquiry at Salt Lake City Principal TALMAGE, of the Mormon college, testified the pupils were taught that the revelation of plural marriages was from God, but that the constitution when properly administered does not interfere with any revelation of God. The witness believed that the law against polygamy was unconstitutional. About one woman out of thirty was a polygamist. He believed that the president of the church was divinely called and would obey him.

Thirty Years Ago.

Over thirty years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Raynor's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throats, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches.

"The Madonna of the Tub," of whom Miss Phelps writes, was a genuine specimen of health and strength She doubtless heeded the warnings of her predecessors, and understood and appreciated the matchless qualities of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which relieves and cures so many ailments peculiar to the sex As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages, in particular. For overworked, "worn out," "run down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, "Favorite Prescription" is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

For Constipation, Sick, or Bilious Headache, use Dr. Pierce's Pellets, or Anti-bilious Granules: pure Vegetable. One a dose. wed-eat

HARPER'S BAZAR

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S BAZAR is a journal for the home. Giving the latest information with regard to the Fashions, the numerous illustrations, fashion-plates, and pattern-sheet supplements are indispensable alike to the home dress-maker and the professional modiste. No expense is spared in making its artistic attractiveness of the highest order. Its clever short stories, parlor plays, and thoughtful essays satisfy all tastes, and its last page is famous as a budget of wit and humor. In its weekly issues everything is included which is of interest to women. During 1890 OLIVER THORNE MILLER, CHRISTINE TERHUNE HERRICK, and MARY LOWE DICKINSON will respectively furnish a series of papers on "The Daughter at Home," "Three Meals a Day," and "The Woman of the Period." The serial novels will be written by WALTER BESANT and F. W. ROBINSON.

TALMAGE FOLLOWS PAUL.

THE DOCTOR PREACHES IN ATHENS ON PAUL'S MISSION THERE.

Vivid Word Pictures of Ancient Athens and Corinth—The Bible Is but an Introduction to the Great Knowledge of the Future—Paul's Anticipations of Heaven.

ATHENS, Nov. 24.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., of Brooklyn, preached in this city this evening, to a group of friends, basing his discourse on the following two passages from the Pauline epistles: I Corinthians ii, 9: "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard" and I Corinthians xiii, 12: "For now we see through a glass darkly." The sermon was as follows:

Both these sentences written by the most illustrious merely human being the world ever saw, one who walked these streets, and preached from yonder pile of rocks, Mars Hill. Though more classic associations are connected with this city than with any city under the sun, because here Socrates, and Plato, and Aristotle, and Demosthenes, and Pericles, and Herodotus, and Pythagoras, and Xenophon, and Praxiteles wrote or chiseled, or taught or thundered or sung, yet in my mind all those men and their teachings were eclipsed by Paul and the Gospel he preached in this city and in your nearby city of Corinth. Yesterday, standing on the old forgives at Corinth, the Acro-Corinthus, out from the ruins at its base arose in my imagination the old city, just as Paul saw it. I have been told that for splendor the world beholds no such wonder today as that ancient Corinth standing on an isthmus washed by two seas, the one sea bringing the commerce of Europe, the other sea bringing the commerce of Asia. From her wharves, in the construction of which whole kingdoms had been absorbed, war galleys with three banks of oars pushed out and confounded the navy yards of all the world. Huge handed machinery, such as modern invention cannot equal, lifted ships from the sea on one side and transported them on trucks across the isthmus and set them down in the sea on the other side. The revenue officers of the city went down through the olive groves that lined the beach to collect a tariff from all nations. The mirth of all people sported in her Isthmian games, and the beauty of all lands sat in her theatres, walked her porticos and threw itself on the alter of her stupendous dissipations. Column, and statue, and temple bewildered the beholder. There were white marble fountains, into which, from apertures at the side, there gushed waters everywhere known for health giving qualities. Around these basins, twisted into wreaths of stone, there were all the beauties of sculpture and architecture; while standing, as if to guard the costly display, was a statue of Hercules of burnished Corinthian brass. Vases of terra cotta adorned the cemeteries of the dead—vases so costly that Julius Cæsar was not satisfied until he had captured them for Rome. Armed officials, the corinthariii, paced up and down to see that no statue was defaced, no pedestal overthrown, no bas-relief touched. From the edge of the city the hill held its magnificent burden of columns and towers and temples (1,000 slaves waiting at one shrine), and a citadel so thoroughly impregnable that Gibraltar is a heap of sand compared with it. Amid all that strength and magnificence Corinth stood and defied the world.

PAUL ADDRESSED HIGH INTELLIGENCE.

Oh! it was not to rustics who had never seen anything grand that Paul uttered one of my texts. They had heard the best music that had come from the best instruments in all the world; they had heard songs floating from morning porticos and melting in evening groves; they had passed their whole lives among pictures and sculpture and architecture and Corinthian brass, which had been molded and shaped until there was no chariot wheel in which it had not sped, and no tower in which it had not glittered, and no gateway that it had not adorned. Ah, it was a bold thing for Paul to stand there amid all that and say: "All this is nothing. These sounds that come from the temple of Neptune are not music compared with the harmonies of which I speak. These waters rushing in the basin of Pyrene are not pure. These statues of Bacchus and Mercury are not exquisite. Your citadel of Acro-Corinthus is not strong compared with that which I offer to the poorest slave that puts down his burden at that brazen gate. You Corinthians think this is a splendid city; you think you have heard all sweet sounds and seen all beautiful sights; but I tell you eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." Indeed, both my texts, the one spoken by Paul and the one written by Paul, show us that we have very imperfect eyesight, and that our day of vision is yet to come: for now we see through a glass, darkly, but then face to face. So Paul takes the responsibility of saying that even the Bible is an indistinct mirror, and that its mission shall be finally suspended.

I think there may be one Bible in heaven enthroned to the throne. Just as now, in a museum, we have a lamp exhumed from Herculaneum or Nineveh, and we look it it with great interest and say: "How poor a light it must have given, compared with our modern lamps," so I think that this Bible, which was a lamp to our feet in this world, may lie near the throne of God, exciting our interest to all eternity by the contrast between its comparatively feeble light and the illumination of heaven. The Bible, now, is the scaffolding to the rising temple, but when the building is done there will be no use for the scaffolding. The idea I shall develop today is, that in this world our knowledge is comparatively dim and unsatisfactory, but nevertheless is introductory to grander and more complete vision. This is eminently true in regard to our view of God.

"CANST THOU FIND OUT GOD?"

We hear so much about God that we conclude that we understand him. He is represented as having the tenderness of a father, the firmness of a judge, the pomp of a king and the love of a mother. We hear about him, talk about him, write about him. We lisp his name in infancy, and it trembles on the tongue of the dying octogenarian. We think that we know very much about him. Take the attribute of mercy. Do we understand it? The Bible blossoms all over with that word, mercy. It speaks again and again of the tender mercies of God, of the sure mercies, of the great mercies, of the mercy that endureth forever, of the multitude of his mercies. And yet I know that the views we have of this great being are most indefinite, one sided and incomplete. When, at death, the gates shall fly open, and we shall look directly upon him, how new and surprising! We see upon canvas a picture of the morning. We study the cloud in the sky, the dew upon the grass, and the husbandman on the way to the field. Beautiful picture of the morning! But we rise at daybreak, and go up on a hill to see for ourselves that which was represented to us. While we look, the mountains are transfigured. The burnished gates of heaven swing open and shut, to let pass a host of fiery spectators. The clouds are all abloom, and hang pendant from arbors of alabaster and amethyst. The waters make pathway of inlaid pearl for the light to walk upon; and there is morning on the sea. The crags uncover their scarred visage; and there is morning among the mountains. Now you go home, and how tame your picture of the morning seems in contrast! Greater than that shall be the contrast between this scriptural view of God and that which we shall have when standing face to face. This is a picture of the morning; that will be the morning itself.

Again: My texts are true of the Saviour's excellency. By image, and sweet rhythm of expression, and startling antitheses, Christ is set forth—his love, his compassion, his work, his life, his death, his resurrection. We are challenged to measure it, to compute it, to weigh it. In the hour of our broken enthralment, we mount up into high experience of his love, and shout until the countenance glows, and the blood bounds, and the whole nature is exhilarated. "I have found him." And yet it is through a glass, darkly. We see but half of that compassionate face. We feel not half the warmth of that loving heart. We wait for death to let us rush into his outspread arms. Then we shall be face to face. Not shadow then, but substance. Not hope then, but the fulfilling of all prefigurement. That will be a magnificent unfolding.

TO SEE EYE TO EYE.

The rushing out in view of all hidden excellency; the coming again of a long-absent Jesus to meet us—not in rags and in penury and death, but amidst a light and pomp and outbursting joy such as none but a glorified intelligence could experience. Oh! to gaze full upon the brow that was lacerated, upon the side that was pierced, upon the feet that were nailed; to stand close up in the presence of him who prayed for us on the mountain, and thought of us by the sea, and agonized for us in the garden, and died for us in horrible crucifixion; to feel of him, to embrace him, to take his hand, to kiss his feet, to run our fingers along the scars of ancient suffering; to say: "This is my Jesus! He gave himself for me. I shall never leave his presence. I shall forever behold his glory. I shall eternally hear his voice. Lord Jesus, now I see thee! I behold where the blood started, where the tears coursed, where the face was distorted. I have waited for this hour. I shall never turn my back on thee. No more looking through imperfect glasses. No more studying thee in the darkness. But, as long as this throne stands, and this everlasting river flows, and those garlands bloom, and these arches of victory remain to greet home heaven's conquerors, so long I shall see thee, Jesus of my choice; Jesus of my song; Jesus of my triumph—forever and forever—face to face!"

The idea of my texts is just as true when applied to God's providence. Who has not come to some pass in life thoroughly inexplicable? You say: "What does this mean? What is God going to do with me now? He tells me that all things work together for good. This does not look like it." You continue to study the dispensation, and after a while guess about what God means. "He means to teach me this. I think he means to teach me that. Perhaps it is to humble my pride. Perhaps it is to make me feel more dependent. Perhaps to teach me the uncertainty of life." But after all, it is only a guess—a looking through the glass, darkly. The Bible assures us there shall be a satisfactory unfolding. "What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter." You will know why God took to himself that only child. Next door there was a household of seven children. Why not take one from that group, instead of your only one? Why single out the dwelling in which there was only one heart beating responsive to yours? Why did God give you a child at all, if he meant to take it away? Why fill the cup of your gladness brimming, if he meant to dash it down? Why allow all the tendrils of your heart to wind around that object, and then, when every fiber of your own life seemed to be interlocked with the child's life, with strong hand to tear you apart, until you fall bleeding and crushed, your dwelling desolate, your hopes blasted, your heart broken? Do you suppose that God will explain that? Yes. He will make it plainer than any mathematical problem—as plain as that two and two make four. In the light of the throne you will see that it was right—all right. "Just and true are all thy ways, thou king of saints."

PROVIDENTIAL HINDRANCES IN LIFE.

Here is a man who cannot get on in the world. He always seems to buy at the wrong time and to sell at the worst disadvantage. He tries this enterprise, and fails; that business, and is disappointed. The man next door to him has a lucrative trade, but he lacks customers. A new prospect opens. His income is increased. But that year his family are sick; and the profits are expended in trying to cure the ailments. He gets a discouraged look. Becomes faithless as to success. Begins to expect disasters. Others wait for something to turn up; he waits for it to turn down. Others, with only half as much education and character, get on twice as well. He sometimes guesses as to what it all means. He says: "Perhaps riches would spoil me. Perhaps poverty is necessary to keep me humble. Perhaps I might, if things were otherwise, be tempted into dissipations." But there is no complete solution of the mystery. He sees through a glass, darkly, and must wait for a higher unfolding. Will there be an explanation? Yes. God will take that man in the light of the throne, and say: "Child immortal, hear the explanation! You remember the failing of that great enterprise. This is the explanation." And you will answer: "It is all right!"

I see, every day, profound mysteries of Providence. There is no question we ask oftener than Why? There are hundreds of graves that need to be explained. Hospitals for the blind and lame, asylums for the idiotic and insane, almshouses for the destitute, and a world of pain and misfortune that demand more than human solution. Ah, God will clear it all up. In the light that pours from the throne, no dark mystery can live. Things now utterly inscrutable will be illumined as plainly as though the answer were written on the jasper wall, or sounded in the temple anthem. Lazarus will thank God that he was blind; and Lazarus that he was covered with sores; and Joseph that he was cast into the pit; and Daniel that he was denned with lions; and Paul that he was lumpbacked; and David that he was driven from Jerusalem; and the sewing-woman that she could get only a few pence for making a garment; and that invalid that for twenty years he could not lift his head from the pillow; and that widow that she had such hard work to earn bread for her children. You know that in a song different voices carry different parts. The sweet and overwhelming part of the hallelujah of heaven will not be carried by those who rode in high places, and gave sumptuous entertainments; but pauper children will sing it, beggars will sing it, ragamuffin hod-carriers will sing it, those who were once the offscouring of earth will sing it. The hallelujah will be all the grander for earth's weeping eyes, and aching heads, and exhausted hands, and scourged backs, and martyred agonies.

HOW MANY SHALL BE SAVED?

Again: The thought of my texts is true when applied to the enjoyment of the righteous in heaven. I think we have but little idea of the number of the righteous in heaven. Infidels say: "Your heaven will be a very small place compared with the world of the lost; for, according to your teaching, the majority of men will be destroyed." I deny the charge. I suppose that the multitude of the finally lost, as compared with the multitude of the finally saved, will be a handful. I suppose that the few sick people in the hospitals of our great cities, as compared with the hundreds of thousands of well people, would not be smaller than the number of those who shall be cast out in suffering, compared with those who shall have upon them the health of heaven. For we are to remember that we are living in only the beginning of the Christian dispensation, and that this whole world is to be populated and redeemed, and that ages of light and love are to flow on. If this be so, the multitudes of the saved will be in vast majority. Take all the congregations that have assembled for worship throughout Christendom. Put them together, and they would make but a small audience compared with the thousands and tens of thousands, and ten thousand times ten thousand, and the hundred and forty and four thousand that shall stand around the throne. Those flashed up to heaven in martyr fires; those tossed for many years upon the invalid couch; those fought in the armies of liberty, and rose as they fell; those tumbled from high scaffolding, or slipped from the mast, or were washed off into the sea. They came up from Corinth, from Laodicea, from the Red Sea bank and Gennesaret's wave, from Egyptian brickyards, and Odjen's threshing floor. Those thousands of years ago slept the last sleep, and these are this moment having their eyes closed, and their limbs stretched out for the sepulcher.

A general expecting an attack from the enemy stands on a hill and looks through a field glass, and sees, in the great distance, multitudes approaching, but has no idea of their numbers. He says: "I cannot tell anything about them. I merely know that there are a great number." And so John, without attempting to count, says: "A great multitude that no man can number." We are told that heaven is a place of happiness; but what do we know about happiness? Happiness in this world is only a half fledged thing; a flowery path, with a serpent hissing across it; a broken pitcher, from which the water has dropped before we could drink it; a thrill of exhilaration, followed by disastrous reactions. To help us understand the joy of heaven, the Bible likes us to a river. We stand on the grassy bank. We see the waters flow on with ceaseless wave. But the filth of the cities is emptied into it, and the banks are torn, and unhealthy exhalations spring up from it, and we fail to get an idea of the river of life in heaven.

A GLORIOUS AND EVERLASTING REUNION.

We get very imperfect ideas of the reunions of heaven. We think of some festal day on earth, when father and mother were yet living, and the children came home. A good time that! But it had this drawback—all were not there. That brother went off to sea, and never was heard from. That sister—did we not lay her away in the freshness of her young life, never more in this world to look upon her? Ah! there was a skeleton at the feast, and tears mingled with our laughter on that Christmas day. Not so with heaven's reunions. It will be an uninterrupted gladness. Many a Christian parent will look around and find all his children there. "Ah!" he says, "can it be possible that we are all here—life's perils over? the Jordan passed and not one wanting? Why, even the prodigal is here. I almost gave him up. How long he despised my counsels! but grace hath triumphed. All here! all here! Tell the mighty joy through the city. Let the bells ring, and the angels mention it in their song. Wave it from the top of the walls. All here!"

No more breaking of heartstrings, but face to face. The orphans that were left poor, and in a merciless world, kicked and cuffed of many hardships, shall join their parents over whose graves they so long wept, and pass into their glorified countenances forever, face to face. We may come up from different parts of the world, one from the land and another from the depths of the sea; from lives affluent and prosperous, or from scenes of ragged distress; but we shall all meet in rapture and jubilee, face to face.

Many of our friends have entered upon that joy. A few days ago they sat with us studying these gospel themes; but they only saw dimly—now revelation hath come. Your time will also come. God will not leave you floundering in the darkness. You stand wonder struck and amazed. You feel as if all the loveliness of life were dashed out. You stand gazing into the open chasm of the grave. Wait a little. In the presence of your departed and of him who carries them in his bosom, you shall soon stand face to face. Oh! that our last hour may kindle up with this promised joy! May we be able to say, like the Christian not long ago, departing: "Though a pilgrim walking through the valley, the mountain tops are gleaming from peak to peak!" or, like my dear friend and brother, Alfred Cookman, who took his flight to the throne of God, saying in his last moment that which has already gone into Christian classics: "I am sweeping through the pearly gate, washed in the blood of the Lamb!"

A BY-LAW

To enable the Corporation of the City of Victoria to raise the sum of $650,000 for sewerage purposes.

WHEREAS IT IS EXPEDIENT TO RAISE the sum of $650,000 for the purpose of constructing a general system of sewerage works for the benefit of the city of Victoria;

And whereas, for the purpose aforesaid it will be necessary to raise by way of loan upon the credit of said Corporation the sum of $650,000;

And whereas it will require the sum of $21,702.57 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of said debt and interest as hereinafter mentioned;

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the said Corporation of the City of Victoria according to the last revised assessment roll, being for the year 1889, was $8,949,582, irrespective of any future increase of the rateable property of the said Corporation of the city of Victoria and of any income in the nature of tolls, interest or dividends from the work or from any stock, shares or interest in the work upon which the money so to be raised or any part thereof is intended to be invested, and also irrespective of any income from the temporary investment of the sinking fund or any part thereof;

And whereas for the paying of interest and creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the principal sum of $650,000 and interest as hereinafter mentioned it will require an equal annual rate of seventy-one two hundredths of one per cent. in the dollar;

THEREFORE be it enacted by the Mayor and Council of the Corporation of the city of Victoria as follows:—

(1.) It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said Corporation of the city of Victoria for the purposes aforesaid to borrow or raise by way of loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advances the same upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned the said sum of $650,000, and cause the same to be paid to the treasurer of the said Corporation and in respect thereof for the said Mayor to issue debentures of the said Corporation to the amount of $650,000 in sums of not less than $1000 each payable at the end of 30 years from the date on which this By-Law takes effect and no bear interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum payable yearly on the 31st day of December in each and every year during the currency of the said debentures.

(2.) The said debentures as to principal and interest shall be payable at the office of the Bank of British North America in London, England; New York city, New York State, United States of America, or Victoria, Province of British Columbia, Canada.

(3.) It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said Corporation of the city of Victoria and he is hereby authorized and instructed to sign and issue the said debentures hereby authorized to be issued and to cause the same and the interest coupons attached thereto to be signed by the Treasurer of the said Corporation and the Clerk of the said Corporation is hereby authorized and instructed to attach the seal of the said Corporation to the said debentures.

(4.) For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest at the rate aforesaid to become due thereon an equal special rate of seventy-one two hundredths of one per cent. in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be raised levied and collected in each year upon all the rateable property in the said Corporation during the continuance of said debentures or any of them.

(5.) This By-Law shall before the final passing thereof receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided by the Municipal Act, 1889.

(6.) This By-Law shall take effect on the 31st day of December, A.D. 1889.

(7.) This By-Law may be cited as the "Sewerage Loan By-Law, 1889."

(8.) The said debentures shall be so expressed that in the event of the power being conferred upon the said Corporation by the Legislative Assembly of the Province of British Columbia and subject to such restrictions as by said Legislative Assembly shall be prescribed the said Corporation may hereafter in its discretion make the principal of said debt repayable by annual instalments during the currency of the period within which said debt is to be discharged, such instalments to be of such amounts that the aggregate amount payable for principal and interest in any year shall be equal as nearly as may be to what is payable for principal and interest during each of the other years of such period.

(9.) And also in the like event and subject as aforesaid that the sinking fund then on hand (to be raised, levied and collected as in the foregoing clauses, and as now provided by law) may be applied in satisfaction of the principal sum of said debentures then remaining unpaid, any such payment of principal and interest shall accrue upon so much only of the principal sum as shall remain due after such payment.

(10.) And also in the like event and subject as aforesaid if on account of a sum being on hand from a previous year or a sum being on hand which has been derived from the work or from the investment of the sinking fund or on account of the increased value of property liable to assessment it is found to be unnecessary to levy the full rate imposed by the By-Law in order to raise the instalment of the sinking fund and interest required to be raised for any year or to raise such instalments for any future years of the then unexpired time which the debentures have to run the Council may pass a by-law reducing the rate for such year or for any such future years so that no more money may be collected than the amount required.

Passed the Municipal Council the 16th day of November, A. D. 1889.

TAKE NOTICE that the above is a true copy of the proposed By-Law, upon which the vote of the Municipality will be taken at

The City Hall for Johnson street Ward;

The Hook and Ladder House for James Bay Ward.

On the 2rd day of December, A.D. 1889, and the polls will be kept open between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

ELECTRICAL.

ILLUMINATE

The Electric Light is, without doubt,

The Light of the Immediate Future.

It has proven itself more safe, convenient, cleanly and healthful than any other illuminate.

No asphyxiation.

No vitiation of the air of offices or homes. It is strangely suggestive of recovered sunlight.

THE RALL ELECTRIC LIGHT AND MANUFACTURING CO.

of Toronto claim for their systems the ability to produce more light per horsepower of energy expended, than can be produced by any other system known. They guarantee their machinery to outlast other makes, while they are able to sell it at fully one-third less. They supply "arc" and "incandescent" apparatus, or both combined, in any sizes and quantity.

Long distance Incandescent Lighting a specialty. Isolated plants for factories, mills, and machine shops, furnished and set up.

Irritable People.

People are often irritable by reason of some exasperating skin disease which destroys comfort and good humor. Salt rheum, nettle rash, erysipelas, pimples, scald head, etc., are of this nature, they arise from bad blood, and can be cured by using Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. n1-2w

Reported Broke Down.

News came down on the City of Topeka that the Sardonyx had become disabled on her up trip. The news was imparted by a man rowed in a boat in Seymour Narrows, who gave information, as understood from a distance, to that effect. The truth of the statement is doubted by those on board, as the man was thought to have some other purpose in view.

Two Accidents.

A teamster named Thos Gowdy was severely kicked on the head by a horse the day before yesterday, and, although the kick was a heavy one, and received near the temple, he is out to-day. The escape from death was narrow.

While three workmen were working on a scaffolding on a Johnson street building yesterday, it gave away, and the men falling a long distance were badly broken up. One was hurt and is laid up at present.

Sale of Work at St. James' Church.

While the main object no doubt is to sell fancy work and good lunches at this class of entertainments, we think in the end the main thing accomplished is generally, that everybody has had a good time, and spent a jolly social evening. Therefore, we argue that next Wednesday evening the favored ones who attend the sale of work at St. James' cannot fail to go home satisfied, taking into consideration the well known ability and hospitality of the ladies having charge of the affair.

Real Estate Sale.

The Woods property, situated on Johnson street above Maynard's corner, has been sold to S. J. Pitts for $3001. The property is productive of $70 per month in rents from cabins. The sale was effected by F. G. Richards, jr.

Zinc Smelters.

The Vancouver News-Advertiser says that a zinc smelter could be operated with profit both at Field and Kamloops, near which places are extensive zinc leads recently discovered. Miners state that it could be mined for $2 a ton, which would leave a handsome profit for smelting.

Coal News.

Coal at Vancouver has been raised to $9 per ton while in Victoria it remains at the same old price. The Central Coal Yard and the Rock Bay Coal Yard have been merged into one and hereafter will be carried on under the name of the Central Coal Yard. Orders to be left at 90½ Government street.

The Midnight Prowlers.

The chances appear to be that the police have broken up the gang of midnight prowlers who were disturbing the dreams of our citizens during the first of the week. A couple of them have gone to jail and Cassidy, who was acquitted at the assizes the other day, being ordered to make himself scarce has not stood on the order of his going but has gone.

Reeve Cawley Dead.

Mr. Samuel Cawley, reeve of Chilliwhack, died at his home on Tuesday morning last. Mr. Cawley had been prostrated by consumption for three or four months before his death. The deceased will be greatly missed in the community where he has filled an important place for years. Mr. J. Reece has been appointed provisional reeve by the council for the remainder of the year.

Emigrants in Camp.

A party of twenty Scotch emigrants are camped on Spring Ridge in tents. They arrived last night by the C. P. R. from Inverness, Scotland, and are a sturdy looking lot. The majority are women, the whole comprising three families. The men, strange to say, are all tinsmiths, and said to be good ones. No doubt they will be extensively visited tomorrow as a novelty.

An Auspicious Event.

A cablegram from the Admiralty, England, announcing Rear Admiral Algernon C. F. Heneage's promotion to Vice-Admiral, was expected a day or two ago, and is now hourly looked for on the flagship. When the news arrives the Admiral's flag will be transferred from the mizzenmast to foremastmast and a salute fired by H. M. S. Swiftsure, which will announce the event in the city. The Admiral will leave for England during January next.

C Battery Notes.

Gunner Hiadman, who recently returned from the other side, is awaiting trial subject to orders from Ottawa.

Lieut. Gaudet has been transferred to "A" Battery at Kingston, and will leave here as soon as orders are received from Ottawa. He will be succeeded by Lieut. Borsoil of Quebec.

Two boys, aged eleven and thirteen years, have enlisted as buglers. They are young Proctor and Ruthven, the former enlisting for three months and the latter for three years.

A Big Difference.

At the last assizes in the case of the Queen vs. Dudley, the prisoner after a verdict of guilty on the charge of rape had been given, was sentenced to seven years imprisonment with hard labor. At the fall assizes just closed at Calgary, a Chinaman was found guilty of the same crime, the only difference being that the Mongolian's victim was a little girl of the tender age of five years. The Chinaman got off with only nine months' imprisonment and twenty strokes with a strap. Was the fact of his being a Chinaman anything in his favor for such a light sentence? It looks so, at least.

True Inwardness of Libel Business.

A well-known and much esteemed government supporter, speaking of libels to-day, made the following observations:

"Look at Robson there! The Guardian of New Westminster opposed him and criticised him unmercifully as a politician for years, but he didn't say anything till he got Editor Suter in a corner, and now he has the money in his pocket; what was it, $2,000?"

The information was given in a friendly spirit and intended as a pointer, that anyone who did not stand in with Robson and his clique are doomed to be ruined like the pioneer Guardian.

From Alberni.

The steamer Boscowitz arrived from Alberni at three o'clock this morning after a quick trip, during which fine weather was met. The steamer brought no freight from Alberni with the exception of one drum of oil. At Ecool, 1,000 gallons of dog-fish oil were taken on board. The oil works at Ecool are being steadily worked. One of the owners, Mr. Smith was a passenger by the steamer, also Messrs. Clark, Drinkwood and Begg. The latter gentlemen has been at Alberni in the crofters' interests and ultimately will locate some of them there. Everything was quiet along the coast. A number of tugs were noticed around the wrecked Idaho as the Boscowitz passed. The latter vessel will not make any more coast trips till January, but is likely to go to the Sound for Canadian bonded freight in the meantime.

Katie Putnam

Katie Putnam has always been an immense favorite with Victoria theatregoers, and all lovers of pure, legitimate comedy will be pleased to learn that on next Monday evening, December 2d, she and her excellent company will fill a return date at the Victoria theatre, producing the ever popular "Lena, the Madcap." Read what the Atlanta Constitution has to say of the popular little actress: "To the cause of humanity she has contributed most liberally, and who shall say that her Little Nell, her Erma, the Elf, her Little Barefoot has not watered the fountains of pity in hearts that would have long since gone dry, or that her Marchioness or Lena has not reanimated hearts that would have long since been broken. The stage owes her a debt of gratitude that it can never repay, and the public a patronage limited only by the capacity of the houses in which she appears."

Another Wreck.

Word reached this city last night that the steamer Rustler, owned by Captain Manson of Nanaimo, had gone on the rocks at Nelson island on Wednesday night, and was a wreck. The Rustler is an 80 foot steamer, formerly owned in Seattle, and was bought by Capt. Manson to tow logs with. She was at the time of her loss earning money for her owner, who is now left a poor man, as there is a very slim chance of saving the boat. The tug Topic, of Vancouver, has been sent with pumps to do all possible in the hopes of getting the Rustler afloat, but it is not thought that the attempt will be successful.

Later news concerning the Rustler states that after getting the steamer off Nelson rock, where she struck, she was run at full speed for Vancouver the pumps meantime being kept agoing. As the water kept gaining fast and was about reaching the fires Capt. LeBlanc beached the steamer at Atkinson's Point. An after inspection showed they had not beached her any too soon for if the water had reached the furnaces it would certainly have caused an explosion and not one of the hands would have been left to tell the tale of her loss. The Dunsmuir, leaving Vancouver for Nanaimo, was intercepted and Mr. Manson, the owner of the Rustler, being on board was taken off and returned in a boat to the terminal city to obtain assistance.

STEADY PROGRESS.

A Chat With Builders and Architects in Encouraging.

"What are the building prospects for next year?" asked a Times reporter of a well known architect yesterday. The reply was that there were no prospects about the matter, they were realities already, and plans for work to begin next February were in hand, and the buildings were to be of the fine class which have been erected this year.

Another well known architect was also approached and from his orders already in hand he prophesied fully twice as much building next year as this year.

A well known contractor was asked what he thought of the matter. He was confident that three times as much building would be done next year as this year and hoped to "get in and get some of it."

From the general tenor of architects and builders remarks the year 1890 will eclipse all former years in the erection of new buildings in Victoria.

UNLAWFUL TRAFFIC.

The Round About Way of the Lakme to Evade the Statute.

A great effort is being made by correspondents in the government organ to justify the chartering of the American steamer Lakme to do coasting trade in this province.

As a great many do not understand just what course was taken by the charterers of the Lakme to carry out their object, the following facts will be of interest:

The captain of the Lakme came to Victoria and applied to the custom house here for a clearance to the Skeena River. He was peremptorily refused. He then proceeded to Nanaimo, thinking possibly he might find a custom house clerk ignorant enough to grant his request. The official there very properly consulted the custom house in this port. He received a long, explicit telegram, advising him on no account to grant the clearance. The steamer was then taken down to San Juan Island (American territory) and cleared for Fort Simpson. There was no custom house official at Fort Simpson, a clerk of the H. B. company discharging the duties. He, ignorant of the law and what had transpired at Victoria and Nanaimo, signed a clearance. All these facts are stated in the department at Ottawa and Fort Simpson has been closed as a port of entry to prevent illicit trade in future.

It will be seen that the peculiar conduct of the Lakme was not the result of an accident, but on the contrary a studied evasion of the well understood coasting laws of this country. In England, where the laws of trade are as free as they can be, it is needless to say the same thing would not be allowed for a moment.

LOSS OF THE IDAHO.

Mate Cheney of the Stranded Vessel Interviewed.

Just after 7 o'clock last evening, the first officer of the Idaho reached Victoria in a small boat with five of the crew and Mr. S. M. Garland, a passenger. They at once went to Mr. Cooper's office, the agent of the company here, where Mr. Cheney was seen by a Times reporter. He stated that "we left Port Townsend bound for Portland at 3 o'clock this (Friday) morning, with a full freight and no passengers. The cargo was made up of 800 barrels of lime from Roche Harbor, 150 barrels of oil, 370 barrels of salmon, 65 bales of hops and 200 tons of coal. There was a dense fog from the time we left Port Townsend, but we were running full speed until the time we heard the Race Rocks fog horn. We didn't hear the Dungeness whistle until after we passed; and the Race Rocks' horn only once, when we were close on shore. We answered it at once, and stopped the engines. It was too late, however, the steamer striking the end of Rosedale reef, in about thirteen feet of water, amidships, and tearing a hole aft under the counter. It was high tide, and the ship was soon hard and fast, and the water pouring in through the hole in her side, the full extent of which could not be realized. The greater part of the cargo being composed of lime, the most immediate danger was of the water reaching it and setting the ship on fire. One of the first orders given was therefore to throw the lime overboard, and the men had all but 150 barrels out when the water reached the barrels and, catching fire, they drove the men out. Holes were at once cut in the deck and a hose was played down on the lime which was so smothered that it could not burn. The work of saving the ship from fire kept everybody until we left. The engine room was then under water, as well as all the freight forward, and there were three feet of water on the freight deck. The steamer was listed to port at an angle of about 15°."

Mr. Garland says that the officers and crew behaved admirably after the vessel struck, and in spite of the burning of the lime did everything they could to save the ship.

By a misunderstanding yesterday the name of the captain of the Idaho was printed Arkwright. This is wrong, it should have been Angerstein.

Latest News.

The steamer Maude arrived from the scene of the wreck about one o'clock this afternoon with part of the crew of the stranded vessel. Mr. Cheney, the first officer, was with them. He said to a Times reporter that there was no truth in the report in the morning paper that the back of the Idaho had been broken. She lay in the same position, and the chances of saving her were good, provided the weather held calm. Steam pumps were being loaded aboard the Maude, as well as a wrecking gear, and Diver Harmon will go down with her just as soon as a telegram is received from Goodall & Perkins of 'Frisco.

THE JUVENILE REFORMATORY

Description of the New Addition to the Provincial Jail.

The new Juvenile Reformatory, so long needed, is now completed, the contractor, Mr. W. M. Ross, having finished all the work, and the building is now ready for the reception of bad boys.

The building now complete is constructed and designed on the same architectural plan as the main jail, and is built adjacent to the west wing of that building. A Times reporter visited the surveyor-general's office this morning and by the kindness of Mr. W. H. Gore was shown the plans of the reformatory, from which it was seen that the building is a two storey, one, 35 feet 6 inches by 21 feet 6 inches. It contains three tiers of cells, three in a tier, or nine in all, besides two large rooms, one of which can be used as a dormitory, the other as an office. On the top floor are bathroom, lavatory, closets, etc. Each cell is separately ventilated and can comfortably accommodate three prisoners. Being built abutting on the west wing, where the kitchen is that indispensable adjunct can do the cooking for both the boys' department and the elder prisoners' ward. This has been arranged so as to keep within the amount of the appropriation voted. A covered way has been built between the kitchen and the reformatory, and this is the only point of connection with the main jail.

Connected with the boys' department is a large yard 80x286 feet, where exercise can be taken. This yard has a high and substantial fence making any contact with the older prisoners impossible. The material of which the addition has been constructed is mostly brick, stone and iron, only a little wood for partitions between the cells being used. Heating will be done by stoves the same as in the main building, steam not being yet arranged. The whole cost of the building complete has been $8200, and is money well spent, as such an institution has been sadly needed for a long time.

They Asked for the Gun.

The noted—almost notorious—Alderman McConnell essayed to speak at a public meeting in Vancouver the other night and was met with shouts of, "have you got your Winchester? Where's your gun?"

For the South.

The Queen of the Pacific sailed at one o'clock this afternoon for San Francisco with the following passengers from this port: Miss L. Cranney, T. P. Koster, Miss Whitman, Mrs. W. Wallace, S. A. Holt and wife, Miss H. Howard, Miss E. Hibben, Mrs. Bushby and daughter, Miss Nugent, Miss L. Nugent, J. D. McCarthy and J. M. Feeney.

Johnson Street.

Complaints about the mud on this thoroughfare have been prevalent of late, and the street committe have taken steps to put it repair. Mr. Matthews, the road superintendent of James Bay ward, is now busy with a gang of men clearing things up a bit, and under his direction a big improvement has been made. Mr. Matthews has got the streets in his ward in first class repair and is now able to turn his attention elsewhere.

The Meeting To-Night.

A meeting will be held in the city hall this evening to discuss the sewerage question on which a vote will be taken on the 4th of December. As a very large expenditure of money will be involved in the proposed work, and as it is a question which must sooner or later be faced manfully by the city, which has already neglected it too long, it will be the duty of every one who can do so to be present this evening in order that a correct decision may be arrived at in the matter.

HAINLANDERS WIN.

McLean and Murray Out-row Their Game Opponents.

The double scull race between McLean and Murray and the Law Bros., came off this afternoon, and was witnessed by a big crowd of people. Mr. Braden was starter with Messrs. Fox and Richardson as judges at the start and finish. Messrs. Paine and Campbell were judges at the stake boat. At exactly 2.29½ the two boats got away, the Law Bros. catching water first and forcing the start got ahead about a half length. This position was kept until Laurel Point was rounded, when the thick fog hid the scullers. Coming back the two boats were well together, but when near Laurel Point the Mainlanders were about one length ahead, and appeared to be holding the position. The betting was now two to one on the mainlanders, with a few takers. Three to two, and four to three, had been offered and freely taken before the race. The two boats came in both pulling well, but the Law Brothers behind by about two lengths. Cheers greeted the winners, and the Victoria backers are again in the ring, their men having failed to down the invincible mainland pullers.

The Law brothers pulled well, and the race was loosely contested throughout, although the time was not remarkably good, running been 15 minutes and 30 seconds.

McLean says he will pull Paine a shell race in two months for any amount.

Celebrated.

Thanksgiving Day in the United States was celebrated on board the steamship Premier at Vancouver on Thursday. The officers had a grand spread as well as the crew. The great American eagle had all its war paint on and flapped its wings with a gusto that smacked of the Glorious Fourth. Capt. O'Brien, as a true son of the Republic, honored in fitting style the President's proclamation.

READ THIS
Mason & Risch Pianos
Which the firm are constantly shipping to all parts of the world. That prominent musical authority, Walter E. Wall, Esq., Fellow of the Royal College of Organists, London, England, and now organist of St. John's cathedral, Denver, Colorado, writes:
"After a thorough test of several months' severity of touch, I can safely say that I am thoroughly satisfied with the fine instrument you have selected for me. In tone and touch I never want a better piano, and shall, as soon as possible, dispose of the Weber Grand I have, to possess one of yours for my own private use.
To-day the instrument had almost a semi-public exemplification, by a skilled piano-tuner who is deeply interested in a firm here who are agents for Steinway, Weber, Knabe, Hardman, Fischer, Bohmer, and a lot of other makers. It received at his hands "a pounding," not a praying, and he said as he finished, "Well, it is impossible to find the slightest fault with it. I think we'll try and get the agency."
Mr. Hall is not the only musician who has changed a piano of one of the noted makers of the United States for one of this firm's celebrated instruments, as the firm have now on hand at their warerooms a very large stock of second-hand pianos, among which are Steinway's, Chickering's, Weber's, Haselton's, and other first-class makers, which they have taken in exchange for theirs, which fact may be accepted as a fair indication of the merits of a piano which can thus displace those of high-class American manufacture.
